No evil step-sisters were harmed in the making of this window display.

Our current display in the Fashion Center Space for Public Art was created by a team of talented young aspiring designers and their exceptionally patient instructors from the Fashion Class, a fashion, design and sewing school.

The young ladies of the Fashion Class Summer Camp, inspired by the magic of fashion, glitz and glam and Cinderella, created an oversized world where the process of designing and creating fashion is equal parts imagination and creativity.

To see the finished result, and the most glittery pair of giant scissors being used by birds you've ever seen, head to 215 W 38th Street!
